

OUR POSITIVE IMPACT

June 2019

The world is shifting, and our future will be shaped by our actions now. BNY Mellon is creating a positive impact on our clients, employees and people around the world.

We're dedicated to ethical decision making and strong risk management, protecting the vibrant financial markets that fuel thriving economies. Our social investing products and services help clients extend economic growth to underserved populations, leading to better jobs and access to vital resources for all.

When women succeed, they lift their communities. We're working tirelessly toward achieving gender equality within and beyond our company. We are committed to hiring and promoting more women at every level, while enabling clients to pursue investments that elevate women in business and society.

The workplace of the future will be more digital, inclusive and fulfilling. We're investing in programs that teach next-generation tech skills and cultivating a work environment attune to diverse needs – one focused on employee wellbeing, purposeful work and ample opportunities for progression.

As the global community's need to tackle climate change becomes more urgent, we're continuing to intensify our efforts to address climate-related risks and opportunities. We help our clients capitalize on climate change mitigation solutions in their investments and are determined to minimize the environmental impact of our own operations.

A stronger society means a stronger BNY Mellon, and we will continue to do more.
