THE WORLD'S MARKETS

BNY iFlow

Deeper Insights into the World's Markets

BNY iFlow offers insights into cross-asset investment flows by leveraging anonymized and aggregated information gathered from BNY's $53.1 trillion in assets under custody*.

The data product provides T+1 views on investment flows, holdings, positioning, and shorts across fixed income, equities, and currencies. Differentiated from a traditional desk flow product, BNY iFlow leverages custody flow data to provide in-depth investor trend analyses to help investors navigate markets.

BNY's Markets Macro strategists, with 75+ years of combined experience, distill data into actionable insights to help investors manage risk and respond to market dynamics.

These actionable insights can be found within the iFlow publications – delivered to subscribers inboxes on a daily basis or accessed on the BNY iFlow self-service platform.

Curated Indicators

Our curated indicators demonstrate whether in-demand investment strategies are being pursued based on trends seen across flows, holdings and positioning data.

Mood

Mood measures investor preference for stocks and bonds, focusing on the difference between country-level global equity flows and core developed markets short duration sovereign bond flows.

Carry

Carry monitors the correlation between FX flows across currencies and the corresponding local government bond yields, indicating when real money investors are following carry strategies.

Trend

Trend gauges overall investment momentum in each currency, showing when these momentum trends began to emerge and how long they may persist.

Value

Value provides insight into value investing strategies in FX markets, indicating if oversold currencies have been overlooked or if overbought currencies are becoming rich.

Holdings

Holdings characterizes the exposure of real money to stock and bond markets, showing how investors deployed their capital along country, sector, credit rating, and maturity.

Positioning

Positioning uses investor holdings as a foundation to measure investment preferences relative to adjacent opportunity sets, characterizing capital deployment across countries and sectors, in relation to other asset classes and simple benchmarks.

Shorts

Shorts captures borrowing/lending behavior across equity and bond markets globally, providing key ingredients to an understanding of investor preferences.

Green

Green examines how environmental, social and governance (ESG) investment mandates are impacting investor flows, showing the relationship between national- and regional-level ESG.

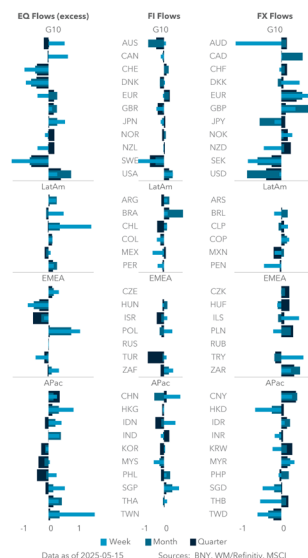

Exploring Holdings

Analyze investor holdings across various sectors to compare current trends with those from 1 year ago, illustrating investor behavior and trends.

Daily Flows

Explore aggregated flows over a one-week, one-month and one-quarter time horizon across the three asset classes.
